

Possible themes for YLC

- Harry Potter Weekend- Go on a journey through BBYO's school of leadership and empowerment.
  - Boys and girls will be divided up into two houses, Gryffindor and Hufflepuff.
  - Exemplifies the fact that YLC is a place for members to grow and learn just like Harry Potter would at Hogwarts
- Day in the life of a true leader- Take an inside look and step into the life of a leader.
  - The attendees will be able to see how famous leaders around the world express their skills and relate them to BBYO.
  - I will give attendees a prompt to act out together to show them how to solve problems and move around obstacles. This will give the attendees a way to put themselves into someone else's shoes and learn from their own experiences.
- Clue/Murder Mystery Weekend- Take problem solving and communication to the next level and try to figure out who committed the crime.
  - Each mock chapter will work together with clues given to them and try to figure out the mystery.
  - This will force the groups to come up with efficient ways to take charge and communicate.

My Brother Alephs,

I see YLC as an opportunity to shape the lives of young members of BBYO and I understand that going on a YLC is the beginning of an amazing short four years in BBYO. I put all of my heart and emotions into everything that I do; therefore, I know that I can make YLC a successful weekend of education, leadership, and bonding. With fresh and creative ideas for in-depth programming I can help ensure that 80 participants of the YLC program come together to become a large and strong force of young leaders to take Michigan region BBYO to new heights. I know they can be the leaders of tomorrow.

Fraternally submitted with undying love for Max Fisher AZA #337, Michigan Region GLC# 63, Summer Programs, and The International Order of the Aleph Zadik Aleph. I remain Aleph,

Goals for YLC Planning

- Talk with all YLC coordinators weekly to bounce around ideas and work together to make the weekend at the Bittker Center meaningful to all who attend.
- Spend at least 4-6 hours planning YLC each week.
- Start promoting YLC as early as possible at events including RC and at all Chapter and Regional events.
- Keep in touch with Lindsey and Jared to make sure that our planning is on track and going in the right direction.
- Have a Final schedule three weeks prior to YLC
- Stay in close contact with my Co to make sure that we are on the same page.

Goals for YLC as a Whole

- Have two mock chapters consisting of chapter members and an executive board.
- Make a binder consisting of resources and information for all attendees to take home with them.
- Make YLC a Shabbat friendly environment because some people might observe Shabbat different than others.
- Have Committees for events that take place at YLC so people can have an opportunity to get involved.
- Have the Godol and N'siah of each mock chapter plan a YLC reunion at the teen center.

Goals and Ideas for Separates

- Main Idea-The attendees here today are the future leaders of Michigan Region. They have the power to shape our region.
- Bring everyone close together.
- Make separates so that it will have an impact on every person. I really want to put my key points into perspective.
- Create an opportunity for everyone to share their goals or ideas.

Programming Ideas

- Teach the attendees the basics of BBYO so they can have a good foundation to build their education on.
- Incorporate many leadership building programs that encourage people to take charge. These programs will be made to fit into any of the themes listed on my platform.
  - Scavenger Hunt- The mock chapters will be sent around the Bittker Center following clues attentively and working together to crack the code.
  - Puzzles- The group will have to do a series of tasks either blind folded or silent so they can use their communication skills to the fullest.
- Promote Summer Programs at YLC. I can honestly say that they have changed my life.
  - I want to have a program devoted just to summer programs that will teach all attendees about the summer programs that you can choose to go on.
- Stand Up! is important as well. I plan to have a program that will help us gain a better understanding of what stand up is and what we can do to get involved.
