Is caucusing for the high and honorable position of Par Par bbg's mit mom

THE START OF SOMETHING NEW recruitment

- schedule phone calls with girls to assist in signing up
- host eighth grade events for new members to become familiar with our chapter
- send out personalized post cards and gifts to MITS to let them know we want them to join
- visit various temples to speak with girls, and hand out goodie bags
- pass around "prospect sheet" at meetings, where members can list jewish teens they think might be interested
- Take our membership above and beyond

WE'RE ALL IN THIS TOGETHER retention

- keep in contact with new member's parents
- write detailed letters to inactive members to help them realize that they are important to us
- host a Par Par tribute/awards night to show appreciation
- attendance sticker chart
- assign each board member "focus members"
- Work hard to make sure nobody loses their BBG heartbeat

GET'CHA HEAD IN THE GAME re-education

- create and distribute MIT books with everything a new member might need to know about Par Par or BBYO
- Create fun ways for members to educate themselves about this organization by using competitions, arts and crafts, etc.
- Inform all members on the importance of the 6 folds of BBG
- Host Little/Big Sister programs and events for the new members to have a role model to learn from
- Use re-education tools to ensure that Par Par thrives

"TOGETHER, WE'RE THERE FOR EACH OTHER EVERY TIME"

MIT Mom's Role

The Aym-Ha Chaverot is in charge of Recruitment, Retention, and Re-education within the chapter. They are responsible for recruiting new members and making them feel welcome. The MIT Mom also works to ensure that all members continue to feel included and that everyone is knowledgeable on the many traditions in BBYO.

A LETTER TO MY PAR PAR SISTERS

Dear BBG,

My goal for this term is to create an environment where all members feel welcomed and accepted, because in Par Par, we are All for One. I wish for every girl in this chapter to know their worth and place within this organization. I am confident that as Aym-Ha Chaverot, Par Par will Bop to the Top with new members and create stronger bonds than ever before. I promise to help every girl feel at home within this wonderful chapter, and put my heart into being Par Par's MIT Mom. This term will be Fabulous, I can Bet on It.

Love,
